

OAKLAND ATHLETICS 1998 INFORMATION GUIDE

A's ON THE INTERNET

On August 1, 1995, the Oakland A's became the fourth major league baseball team to have an official home page on the Internet's World Wide Web. By establishing a presence on the Internet, the A's are able to provide information to A's fans not just in the Bay Area, but throughout the country and the world. The A's have also set up e-mail addresses for fan feedback, and all mail is read by A's employees, as the A's maintain their Web site in-house.

The A's Web site is divided into six sections:

Gameday: Features the A's roster, game notes, up to the minute scores, live radio broadcasts and Cyberskipper™, an interactive fantasy baseball game.

'98 Season: The latest stats, press releases, game recaps, results, transactions and minor league information are located here. You can also sign-up for the A's Backweb channel and get information delivered straight to your computer.

Archives: Contains yearly recaps, photo's and A's history.

Tickets: Information and prices for single game and season tickets, the A's schedule and on-line ordering.

Front Office: You can find the A's Fan Forum, a kids section, community affairs information and more in the Front Office.

Merchandise: The A's Merchandise section has been updated for 1998 to include secure on-line ordering.

The address for the A's Internet Site is:

Born and raised in Oakland, he graduated from Fremont High School, and attended St. Mary's College for two years before graduating from the U.S. Merchant Marine Academy, Kings Point, New York. A World War II veteran, Mr. Hofmann served the Merchant Marine in various theaters, earning a rating of Master Mariner.

In 1948, Mr. Hofmann started a career in contracting and development as a plastering contractor. He moved on to home building in 1951. In 1957 he formed the Hofmann Company, and since that time has built over 30,000 homes and apartments, and over $150 million in commercial and industrial properties. Today, the Hofmann Company also operates two athletic clubs, a youth center, and an eighteen hole golf course. He is very active in the home-building industry, as a two time President and member of the Board of Directors of the local Building Industry Association. Ken is also a member of the National Association of Home Builders.

Mr. Hofmann has also served on the Board of Trustees and a Regent Emeritus for St. Mary's College, and is a member of the alumni association of the U.S. Merchant Marine Academy, Kings Point, NY. In 1983, he was named St. Mary's alumnus of the year. During the 1980's, Mr. Hofmann helped endow a new football field and basketball gym, as well as a football scholarship at St. Mary's. ART HOWE

MGR

Arthur Henry Howe, Jr.

1998 Opening Day Age: 51

Born: Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, December 15, 1946

Height: 6-1 Weight: 200

Named as A's manager November 16, 1995

Contract Status: Third year of a three-year contract through 1998.

Art Howe returns for his third season as manager of the Oakland A's, posting a 143-181 record in his two previous seasons. After managing the Houston Astros to a 392-418 record over five seasons, Howe's major league managerial record now stands at 535-599.

In his first season with the A's in 1996, Howe guided a young, inexperienced A's team to a 78-84 record. The A's fell to 65-97 last year, but Howe picked up his 500th career win as a manager in the A's 11-9 victory at San Diego on June 18.

Howe was the first base coach and hitting coach with the Colorado Rockies prior to joining the A's organization. His coaching career began immediately following the conclusion of his playing career. Art worked in a variety of roles with the Texas Rangers from 1985-88, including both first and third base coach and hitting instructor. He managed the Houston Astros from 1989-93 and was the major league advance scout for the Los Angeles Dodgers in 1994.

Howe guided the Astros to 392 wins in his five years as manager, a total which ranks second only in franchise history to Bill Virdon's 544 in eight seasons. In his first season as manager, Houston finished third with an 86-76 record and Howe finished fourth in the BBWAA National League Manager of the Year voting. It was one of two third place finishes, with the other coming in his final season in 1993 (85-77).

The Astros began a rebuilding process in 1990 which saw Houston field the youngest team in the majors in 1991. In that season, Howe was named as a coach on Lou Piniella's staff for the All-Star Game in Toronto. By 1992, he had Houston back to the .500 level at 81-81. During his tenure in Houston, Howe oversaw the development of young players such as 1991 National League Rookie of the Year Jeff Bagwell, Craig Biggio, Ken Caminiti, Pete Harnisch and Darryl Kile.

Howe's professional baseball career began in 1971 with Salem of the Carolina League and he made his major league debut in 1974 with the Pirates. A lifetime .260 hitter in 10 big league seasons, the former infielder played in 891 games with Pittsburgh, Houston and St. Louis. He spent parts of the 1974 and 1975 seasons with the Pirates before he was traded to Houston to complete a deal for Tommy Helms following the 1975 season. Howe played for Houston from 1976-83 and had his best season as an Astro in 1981 when he led the team with a .296 average. During that season he set a Houston record, matched this year by Luis Gonzalez, with a 23-game hitting streak. He was also a member of Houston's first ever division winner in 1980, collecting a homer, 2 singles and 4 RBI in the one-game playoff at Dodger Stadium to win the title. Surgery on his left ankle and right elbow forced him to miss the entire 1983 season and he finished his playing career in St. Louis from 1984-85. Following his release by St. Louis on April 22, 1985, he joined the Texas Rangers coaching staff on May 21.

Howe's managerial experience began during his playing days in the Puerto Rican winter league. He managed at Bayamon in 1979, 1980 and 1982, earning Manager of the Year honors during the 1980 season. Following the conclusion of his playing career, he guided the Ponce club in 1985 and returned to winter ball in 1994, leading the expansion Azucareros del Este team from the Dominican Republic to the Caribbean World Series.

He was a football and baseball star at Shaler (PA) High School and attended the University of Wyoming in Laramie. While picking up his degree in Business Administration, he played for four years on the Cowboys' baseball team and had a season as a quarterback for the football team until a back injury put a halt to his gridiron career. Upon his graduation from Wyoming, Howe was employed as a computer programmer for the Westinghouse Corporation when a friend convinced him to attend a Pirates tryout camp. He eventually signed a free agent contract with the club in August, 1970, at the age of 23.

Howe and his wife, Betty, have three children, Stephanie, Gretchen and Matthew. They reside in Houston, Texas during the off season. He has been active in the community, hosting the Art Howe Pro-Celebrity Golf Tournament to benefit the Epilepsy Association of Houston/Gulf Coast.

Cluck's coaching career began as his playing career was coming to an end in the Astros minor league system. He was a player-coach at Oklahoma City in 1972 and Denver in 1973 before starting the 1974 season as a player. After appearing in two games at Denver and 22 at Cedar Rapids, he finished the year coaching at Columbus. The former pitcher was named manager at Dubuque of the Midwest League where he compiled a 58-67 record in 1975 and 59-71 in 1976. He concluded his first tour of duty with the Houston organization filling a variety of roles including Assistant Field Coordinator in 1977, Minor League Field Coordinator in 1978 and Coordinator of Minor League Instruction from 1979-81.

Following the 1981 season, Bob moved on to the San Diego Padres organization as Director of Minor League Development. After two seasons in that capacity, he was named manager of the Padres Triple-A affiliate in Las Vegas in 1984. In his first season he guided the Stars to a 71-65 record and a playoff berth and followed that up with a 65-79 mark in 1985. He was a minor league instructor in 1986 and '87 before returning to the Astros organization.

Upon his return to Houston, Cluck filled a variety of roles including coordinator of minor league pitching instruction, national scouting cross checker and special assignment coach before joining Howe on the major league staff. Following his stint as pitching coach, Cluck joined the A's organization in 1994 as the minor league roving pitching instructor, a role he fulfilled for two seasons.

Cluck's playing career spanned eight years in the minor leagues with Pittsburgh and Houston. He pitched five seasons in the Pirates farm system from 1967-71 and had his best season in 1969, compiling a 10-4 record and a 2.25 ERA at Salem of the Carolina League. The San Diego native spent his final three seasons (1972-74) as a player in the Astros farm system.

Prior to turning pro, Cluck attended San Diego City College (1964-65) and San Diego State (1966-67) where he was a two-time all-conference selection. Bob is also active in the community and founded Say No To Drugs, Inc. He and his wife, Teri, have two daughters, Jennifer (25) and Amber (23). They make their off season home in La Mesa, California.

Dyer graduated from Cortez HS in 1963, earning All-State honors in baseball and football (second team). DESIGNATED HITTER RULE

A hitter may be designated to bat for the pitcher in any spot in the batting order in any game without affecting the status of the pitcher. The designated hitter must be selected and be included on the lineup cards presented to the umpire-in-chief prior to the game. Failure to do so precludes the use of a designated hitter for that game.

The designated hitter is "locked" into the batting order but may be removed for a pinch-hitter or pinch-runner, who in turn becomes the designated hitter. The designated hitter, while still in the game, may be used defensively but the pitcher then assumes the batting order of the replaced defensive player, thus terminating the designated hitter role. The designated hitter is eligible for all American League batting titles.

DID YOU KNOW...

That on June 18, 1993, the A's set an Oakland record by overcoming an eight run deficit to win. Trailing Kansas City 8-0 entering the bottom of the second, Oakland scored twice in the second, six times in the fifth and two more in the seventh for a 10-9 win. The all-time Athletics record is also the major league record, set by the Philadelphia A's on June 15, 1925 against Cleveland. The A's trailed by 12 runs in that game and scored 13 times in the bottom of the eighth to win 17-15.

Outfielder in his playing career.

After making his minor league managerial debut at Modesto in 1997, Jeffrey Leonard will manage the A's Double-A affiliate in Huntsville in 1998. Leonard guided the A's to a 74-67 record last year after beginning his coaching career as the first base coach and hitting instructor for Modesto in 1996. He also managed the A's instructional league team in Arizona in 1996. "Hac Man's" playing career spanned 14 years and included stops in Los Angeles, Houston, San Francisco, Milwaukee and Seattle. Jeffrey was signed out of Overbrook High School (Philadelphia, PA) by the Dodgers in 1973 and made his major league debut in 1977, hitting .300 in 11 games with Los Angeles. Leonard was traded to the Astros with Rafael Landestoy in exchange for Joe Ferguson on September 11, 1978. In 1979 he hit .290 on his way to being named The Sporting News Rookie of the Year in the National League. In April, 1981 he and Dave Bergman were traded to the Giants, where he spent parts of eight seasons, in exchange for Mike Ivie. He enjoyed his best season in 1987 when he was selected to the N.L. All-Star squad for the first time while enjoying a .280, 19 homer, 63 RBI season. Jeffrey posted a .417 average in the post-season en route to being named MVP of the NLCS and became the first player in LCS history to hit a home run in four consecutive games. On June 8, 1988 he was dealt to the Brewers for Ernest Riles and in 1989 joined the Mariners as a free agent. Leonard was a member of the A.L. All-Star team that year, but his playing career came to an end when he was released at the end of the 1990 season. He finished with a .266 career average with 144 HR and 723 RBI.

JOHN KARL KUEHL

Born: Fullerton, California, August 15, 1967

Height: 6-4

Weight: 200

Infielder in his playing career.

After guiding Southern Oregon to a 41-35 record last year in his managerial debut, John Kuehl takes over as manager of the A's Scottsdale affiliate in the Arizona Rookie League. Kuehl's playing career ended prior to the 1994 season when he was named as a coach at Scottsdale. In 1995 and 1996, he served as a scout in the A's system, covering Arizona, Colorado, New Mexico and Utah. John's playing career began in 1988 when he was selected by the San Diego Padres organization in the 33rd round of the free agent draft. He hit .325 for Spokane in his first professional season and followed that up by batting .258 with 20 HR and 98 RBI for Charleston in 1989. Injuries limited his playing time over the next three seasons, including 1990 when he missed the entire season. John was released by the Padres in August of 1992 and signed with the A's organization, finishing the year at Madison. He played at Double-A Huntsville in 1993, batting .240 with 11 HR and 67 RBI in his final professional season. A 1985 graduate of Saguaro HS, John also attended the University of California. His father, Karl, managed in the majors with Montreal and was also the A's Director of Player Development from 1984-1991. Karl currently works in the A's scouting department as the Latin American Supervisor. John and his wife, Beth, reside in Fountain Hills, Arizona, with their son, Ethan.

Player Devel.

THE A's ELEPHANT

Prior to the 1988 season the A's brought back one of the team's most familiar and successful characters from past years — the Athletics' Elephant. After two seasons featuring a more aggressive elephant holding two crossed bats in it's trunk, the old A's Elephant, which brought the A's three straight American League titles from 1988-90 and a World Championship in 1989, returned in 1995. The A's Elephant has been featured in many of the club's promotions and publications. Also, each player wears a special A's Elephant patch on the left sleeve of their uniform.

For 60 years the Athletic Elephant was one of the most popular and colorful logos in all of major league baseball. In 1901 Connie Mack and his Philadelphia Athletics helped form the American League. The following year, New York Giants Manager John McGraw dismissed the A's with contempt, calling them "The White Elephants," implying Mack shouldn't be allowed to spend money without supervision. Mack defiantly adopted the White Elephant as the team insignia, and in 1902, the A's won the American League pennant.

The White Elephant remained the team's mascot until later that decade, when it finally made its way to an A's uniform. Its first appearance was on the team's sweaters. In about 1918, the Elephant finally saw game action when Mack had the pachyderm symbol (in blue with a white "A" inside) placed on the left sleeve of every player.

By 1920, Mack had fully adopted the A's Elephant as the team's symbol. Gone was the traditional "A" on the front of the jersey. In was a blue elephant logo. But after a few poor seasons, Mack decided a change was in order. So, in 1924, the blue elephant was replaced by the white elephant on the team's jersey. The new-look pachyderm seemed to do the trick, as the A's played better ball for the next few years.

In 1928, Mack decided the elephant had worn out its brief welcome on the A's jersey fronts. He replaced it with the familiar "A" on the uniforms, and the A's went on to win two World Championships and an AL crown in the next three years. This resurgence was probably due more to the additions of Foxx, Simmons, Grove, Cochrane, et al., than to the elephant's absence.

That was the last year for the elephant on the A's uniform until 1955, when the A's, now in Kansas City, added an elephant patch to their left sleeves. But when Charlie Finley purchased the team in the early sixties, the elephant mascot was once again sent packing, replaced by, of all animals, a mule. This was the last we saw of this loveable A's mascot until 1988.

The elephant has once again proven to be a "good luck" charm for the A's, as since its return the Athletics have won three American League pennants and one world championship.

A's ON THE AIR

BILL KING has a style of broadcasting that combines baseball knowledge with a unique ability to paint word pictures which transport radio listeners right into the action. The 1998 season marks Bill's 18th year of play-by-play for the A's. In addition to his work with the A's, Bill was also the voice of the Oakland and Los Angeles Raiders and the Golden State Warriors. He worked for the Raiders from 1966 to 1992, a span that included four Super Bowls. From 1962 through the 1982-83 season, King was the play-by-play voice of the Warriors. His background in baseball stems from his days playing semi-pro baseball as a youngster in the Midwest, and his first play-by-play job was for a club in Pekin, Illinois in 1948. Bill makes his home in Marin County.

KEN KORACH begins his third year with the A's as a play-by-play announcer and the host of the pre-game show. He came to the A's after four years as part of the Chicago White Sox radio broadcast team. Ken was also the voice of the Pacific Coast League's Las Vegas Stars for six years. In the off season, he handles the radio and television play-by-play for the University of Nevada-Las Vegas basketball team. Ken has several ties to the Bay Area including radio for the football and basketball teams at San Jose State University from 1985-1992. He also worked as a reporter for KCBS radio. His first baseball job was in 1984 with the Redwood Pioneers of the California League. Ken attended San Diego State University and the University of California, Santa Barbara where he graduated with a degree in social sciences in 1975. Ken and his wife Denise live in Henderson, Nevada with their daughter Emilee.

RAY FOSSE begins his 13th year as a member of the A's radio broadcast team, his 10th on A's television and his 14th in the Oakland A's front office. Fosse brings with him the ability to inject a former players point of view into game broadcasts. Ray started his playing career in 1965 with Reading of the Eastern League as a number one draft pick of the Cleveland Indians. He had his best season with the Indians in 1970 when he was winner of the Gold Glove Award, co-winner of the Man of the Year Award with Sam McDowell and catcher for the American League All-Star Game. In 1973, he was traded to the Oakland A's where he played on two World Championship teams. Ray finished his career playing baseball with the Milwaukee Brewers in 1979. In 12 years of major league ball, he batted .256 with 61 home runs. Ray and his wife, Carol, were married April 4, 1970. They have two children, Nikki (9/24/75) and Lindsey (10/8/82). Ray and his family have been East Bay residents since 1973.

GREG PAPA returns for his ninth season as A's play-by-play man. In addition to his work with the A's, Papa also handles the play-by-play duties for the NFL Oakland Raiders and the San Antonio Spurs of the NBA. He had been the radio voice of the Golden State Warriors from 1986-1997. Before coming to the Bay Area, Papa spent two years as an announcer/analyst for the Indiana Pacers 55-station radio network. He has also done occasional work for NBC, ABC and ESPN. He is a graduate of Syracuse University's Newhouse School of Broadcasting. Papa resides in Danville with his wife, Angela, and their children, Derek, Alexandra and Danielle.

KEN WILSON is in his third season as the play-by-play broadcaster at KRON. The 24-year veteran of sports broadcasting joined the A's after spending five seasons as the television voice of the California Angels from 1991-95. Wilson broadcasted the first six seasons of Seattle Mariners baseball from 1977-82, and did the play-by-play for the Cincinnati Reds from 1983-85. He also spent five seasons behind the microphone with the St. Louis Cardinals (1986-90). In addition to his baseball duties, Wilson works as the radio and television voice of the St. Louis Blues hockey team and has won four straight Mid-America

Emmy awards for his play-by-play with the Blues. Wilson is a graduate of the University of Michigan. Ken and his wife, Marlene, have two sons, Ryan and Grant.
